New South Wales (NSW) dairy farmer, Simone Jolliffe, has been appointed to the Australian Dairy Farmers (ADF) Board.

ADF President, Noel Campbell, said Mrs Jolliffe owns and runs a 220 cow dairy farm in Wagga Wagga with her husband, Neil.

"We welcome the appointment of Simone to the Board, and look forward to her contribution to ADF on behalf of the industry," Mr Campbell said.

"Simone has a wealth of knowledge arising from her experience in the dairy industry, including extensive involvement in the NSW Regional Development Program."

Mr Campbell said Simone had been appointed to a casual vacancy on the Board, with the position up for election at the November ADF Annual General Meeting (AGM).

Mrs Jolliffe said she was delighted to be appointed to the ADF Board and looked forward to working on behalf of NSW dairy farmers and the wider industry in future.

"It's an honour to be appointed to the Board, and I look forward to playing my part in helping shape a vibrant and prosperous future for Australian dairy farmers," Mrs Jolliffe said.
